

Audience feedback for..

a deadly influence

by Thomas Cobb

I thought the script was very well written. It was an entertaining parody of Twitter and above all it was a very clever plot.

I was there with my two teenage daughters and two teenage nephews and my mother. They are all keen on murder mysteries and often watch Poirot and Death In Paradise. So we all enjoyed trying to solve the murder.

None of use got the right answer. But the denouement was very satisfying. It was tantalisingly guessable, but somehow just out of our reach.

Really entertaining and lively and we especially enjoyed the section where the audience were able to question the cast who stayed in character with some hilarious adlibbed lines.

You must have had a wonderful time listening to all the explanations!

Many thanks to everyone for a great enjoyable evening including the hard working catering crew.

Lots of fun — a most enjoyable evening (and terrific supper too)

This show was just so bloody fantastic. Great cast. Great acting. Very, very professional. Great food. A fantastic evening enjoyed by both myself and my friend.

I was impressed. It was a lovely evening. Well organised. It really is a top notch group. Well done! Looking forward to God of Carnage in March!